Latinos and Economic Security (LES) is a national research project funded by the Ford Foundation designed to enhance retirement security for middle-aged and older Latinos by developing and fostering a new policy agenda that will make issues of aging Latinos a priority for policy makers as well as the Hispanic community.

In 2000, Latino baby boomers reported much lower education levels than non-Latino boomers. This was especially true of non-citizen Latinos, with two-thirds having less than a high school education, compared with 24% of U.S.-born Latinos and 11% of non-Latinos.
